

October is Learning Disability Awareness Month

<https://www.ldatschool.ca/ld-awareness-month-posters/>

Facts:

*About 1 in 10 students present with LD

*LDs are brain-based processing deficits impacting how one encodes, stores & uses data (see chart)

*PPM8 defines LD and highlights how to develop programs, plan transitions, and implement services at school

*Psycho-educational assessments are used to identify ones profile of strengths and needs, and to diagnose LDs

*Students can receive accommodations and modifications to curriculum expectations based on educational and psychological testing in order to access Ontario curriculum and achieve IEP goals

*Contact your Special Education Resource Teacher if you suspect your child has a Learning Disability

Resources below are some examples to be considered for various LD profiles
